More and more people today are turning to this ancient study, and anyone who ever has tried feng shui is usually very pleasantly surprised at how easily they can use and adapt this ancient Chinese science to a contemporary modern environment with very beneficial results.

I’ve taught students from countries all over the world for over 25 years...to many, many thousands of people, through my books and my courses, and also through the various articles that I’ve been writing to popularize this wonderful living skill. So with my easy to understand lessons and some practical exercises and application, you too can practice feng shui, and see results quickly.

And this is exactly what people like you and me want today... instant gratification... we want results... we know what we want and we want it NOW.

And what I have learned over the years about teaching feng shui is that anyone can learn it and it doesn’t have to be complicated to work – but you do have to get it right!

So, the way that I have designed and teach my courses is different... I make things quite simple and easy to understand as we go step by step... and you’ll love the flow of my new online course, not to mention the results!

But I’m getting ahead of myself...

Let’s Get Back To How ORDINARY People Like You and I Can Use Feng Shui To Create EXTRAORDINARY Results In Our Lives...

What’s Feng Shui Anyway?

Feng Shui is actually the art of living in a state of “harmony” with the world. Now, living in “harmony” with the world and our environment just means understanding that we are surrounded by energy – energy of both a good and bad nature. So, what we want to do in feng shui and what I will teach you is to suppress bad energy and to enhance good energy.
You know, this feng shui, this Chinese phenomenon, used to be hard to define. But now I think that I can say that feng shui is the study of the elements in the environment that enables us to reach out and live in harmony with the energy around us to create balance, success, and bring all kinds of good health, happiness, and most importantly bring lots of prosperity into our lives.

So it’s a “living skill” – an ancient science and art well known to the Chinese through the centuries but it’s also a very contemporary practice. It’s a living skill that anyone can use and learn to use and apply in your homes and offices in order to get the best out of the energies that surround you.

Why Is Feng Shui So Important Today?

It’s important to live with and use good feng shui today, especially with the pressure and stress of our busy lifestyles, because feng shui protects us against all the bad things that can happen to us – illness, business collapse, accidents, separation and reversals of fortune.

Sometimes, you know, you find that your life is going smoothly because you’re going through a good period in your life and then all of a sudden, troubles come... not in one’s but in battalions and everything seems to go to wrong...

You get ill. Suddenly, not just one person in the house gets sick many people get sick or you see a business go from being robust and very profitable to suddenly taking a turn for the worse. Your profits drop. Your sales revenue decline and for no reason at all, you keep bumping into things. You have accidents.

When things like this begin to happen you know... these are all manifestations of bad feng shui, especially when you see a pattern happening in your life where nothing seems to be going right!

And here’s where your knowledge of feng shui comes to the rescue.

As you learn more and increase your knowledge of feng shui, you will find that your bad days become less and less, and life becomes gentler and trouble-free

When you have good feng shui, it does not mean that you’re going to become as rich as Bill Gates – I can’t promise you that although it may happen! What it does mean is that life moves along very smoothly for you. You have good health. You enjoy a reasonable, really good income, which keeps improving from year to year.
And the most important thing... you have harmonious relationships with each other: husband and wife, with parents and their children and amongst siblings. What is really important is that at work, you don’t have people finding fault with you.

Good feng shui brings success without the obstacles. In fact, good feng shui allows you to move along smoothly so that all the obstacles somehow just get dissolved.

Feng Shui also helps improve longevity. Now, exactly what do we mean by longevity? The Chinese concept of longevity is that you escape premature death, that you do not have the specter of premature death – accidents, all kinds of misfortunes happening to you and if you’re sick, you will get well very soon. Okay?

And what is most wonderful of all, feng shui is also able to ensure that you have good health, that you enjoy good health. After all what’s the use of having a lot of money, a great marriage, wonderful relationships, if you are not healthy enough to enjoy your life? In Feng Shui practice, we always ensure that you get good health. We always ensure that you have longevity luck. This is frightfully important to feng shui.

So, all of these things are the manifestation of good feng shui and why it’s so important to learn and apply it in a practical way in our daily lives right now.

Hey, What’s All This About Magic?

I want to be really clear on this. Feng shui is not magic but it works like magic. After many years using feng shui, I’m so confident that once you know the basics of feng shui and apply the easy techniques explained in my online course, you will see some differences almost immediately and changes will begin to come creeping into your life.

You’ll say to yourself... “Wow, this is such an important and phenomenal practice”... you’ll wish you had learned the simple skills much earlier in life.

So, this is what I mean by feng shui working like magic. While Feng Shui promises much in terms of bringing material and physical well being to those who arrange their living and their work environments according to its many precepts, it is not magic.
So, Is It A Spiritual Practice?

Feng Shui is not a spiritual practice either. It cannot create miracles. It cannot bring overnight success and it does not change your entire life situation immediately.

What it does do is create much better luck for you and the good luck seems to come to you when you least expect it... but on a regular basis. So, it becomes the most natural thing in the world to enjoy good fortune... and that’s the beauty of feng shui.

Suddenly you feel much happier and healthier... your relationships feel better and then slowly you come to realize that your overall life actually improves tremendously.

And What About All Those Different Formulas?

As we move through the course you’ll begin to understand more about feng shui, the precepts and all the various methods and formulas because of course, feng shui is comprised of many different formulas. You’ll learn how to arrange your space, how to orientate your houses and even your own personal living directions in order to tap into the good energy around you; how to read the energy around you.

These are all the various methods that make up feng shui and we will go through many different steps so that you can slowly, slowly go deeper and deeper into the knowledge of feng shui. And the deeper you go, the more excited you will feel because as you expand the possibilities that feng shui promises, you will find your life taking on greater and greater improvements. You will see your life in great perspective this way, okay?

Now, what is really good is that your feng shui practice can be applied to almost every facet of the living and working environment.

It has to do with enhancing the energies of the surrounding space as well as your immediate living environment, which means your home, your living room, your dining room, and your bedroom. You know...how you live, how you sleep, how you eat, how you play. So, your house becomes very important if you want to practice feng shui.

Secondly, we’ll take a good look and consider your work condition this means your home office or corporate office - both are very important. You must learn how to feng shui your house and also your office.

So, for those of you in the corporate scene... as you get more and more advanced, you can think in terms of bringing good feng shui to your whole business, to the whole corporate environment and even to whole big multibillion dollar projects and shopping malls, offices, production houses, factories and so forth.
Here’s a quick story and tip that you can apply right now that is absolutely critical to your financial and career success... and it works!

The Black Tortoise

For those new to Feng Shui this might be an unfamiliar term but in basic landscape feng shui it’s important to identify the perfect feng shui spot whereby there is good support behind you. This is represented symbolically by the “Black Tortoise”. Always remember that feng shui principles suggest there should be good support behind you... so that your ideas will always get support and that whenever you are in difficulty there will be somebody or something that will happen to give you the support you need.

Maybe you are living up on the 35th floor, the penthouse floor and right behind you is a completely empty space... so there is no support. I have personally discovered that whenever there is no support behind me, all I need to do is hang a picture of a very big mountain behind me and presto! I get good support.

Here’s How I Got Support From A Bank Using Feng Shui

Feng Shui is a very visual practice... so what you see is important. Once when I was in business, I needed the help and support of banks. So I took a picture of the head office of a very important bank from whom I had borrowed a lot of money and I put a picture of that bank behind me where I was seated... and I had the greatest support from that bank!

Something simple like that actually works you know. That’s what so great about feng shui. I have found that basically it’s very important to understand the fundamentals and the symbolism... and I incorporate a lot of these into my teachings.

It’s not difficult to apply these ancient techniques to any kind of modern house or apartment today... even your college dorm!
Now, your home can be bungalow, a townhouse, an apartment or it can be just a single room – a single room in college, or it can be a home, wherever you stay and sleep and treat as your sanctuary.

Each of the rooms in your home can benefit from feng shui. Even your desk at work can benefit by applying feng shui principles... even your college desk where you study, where you go to do all your work can benefit from good feng shui.

That is the great wonderful thing about learning feng shui... you can apply it almost everywhere and my on line course makes it so easy to do... the lay-out, orientations, the shapes, the color schemes, the placement of furniture, where to put your decorative objects and even what kind of paintings to invest in. All of these add to the totality of what we call good feng shui... and that’s what I love to teach!

Pulling It All Together

Finally, I’ll help you pull all this together to directly benefit you that is the magic of my course and what true feng shui application is all about. I’ve found that just teaching the techniques isn’t enough... most people need help pulling it all together.

What you’ll learn in “Practical Feng Shui for Modern Living” is the best way to go about practicing feng shui...and that is to take a systematic approach... and go step by step. That’s the key to putting it all together and getting it right.

I’ve structured the lessons so that you will start to learn the basic fundamental theories and the concepts of feng shui and then slowly develop your “feng shui eye” so you’ll become aware of what you have around you... you’ll begin to live in a state of awareness and before long you will also start to develop a solutions oriented attitude.

In fact, let me tell you a secret.

✓ The easiest thing to get from feng shui is prosperity luck. You can actually activate prosperity luck pretty well but what is also good is feng shui brings you great relationships as well.

✓ It brings and improves marriage luck tremendously. People looking for marriage can use feng shui to attract a spouse and keep the spouse, keep the marriage happy.
✓ If you want children and you want to get a family started but you find it really hard to conceive and there seem to be one million obstacles standing in the way, you can use feng shui.

✓ You can even use feng shui to ensure that no third party comes in to disturb your marriage!

Now, what’s really exciting and rewarding for me is the ability to teach you online... through such a powerful, wonderful media.

Obviously you can’t learn all of this overnight but if you register and follow the courses as they are delivered to you electronically every two weeks you will have all the fundamentals and even some more advanced applications to use... and your life will definitely improve.

Remember that there are practical and very inexpensive remedies to most of the feng shui problems that we encounter from day to day... and it is very rarely necessary to resort to very drastic expensive measures. My method of feng shui, I like to say, is the easy method of feng shui and it is also fun to learn and great to practice.

So, it’s about health, wealth and happiness. Learn all the basics of Feng Shui and guess what? You’ll be able to live in much, much happier surroundings.

And personally, you will feel lighter, happier. Success comes to you more easily. Projects come to fruition more easily. Relationships are very pleasant. You do away with all the bad luck. That is the promise of learning feng shui – health, wealth and happiness.
